Main ongoing Projects

AGING – Department of Excellence Programme

Role: Scientific Leader, BETTERCARE4AGING Research Area

Programme: Department of Excellence – Italian Ministry of University and Research (MUR) Institution: Department of Translational Medicine, Università del Piemonte Orientale Period: 2023–2027

The AGING Project aims to strengthen the Department's national and international leadership in Ageing Sciences through an integrated programme encompassing three strategic pillars:

- TRANSLAGING – Basic and translational research on ageing;
- BETTERCARE4AGING – Development and evaluation of innovative organisational models and welfare systems for older adults;
- TEACHINGAGING – Educational innovation and training in ageing sciences.

As Scientific Leader of the BETTERCARE4AGING research area, I coordinate research focused on designing, implementing and evaluating innovative models of care to improve the quality, continuity and sustainability of health and social care services for older people.

DiPP-CoN – A Disaster Preparedness Capacity Development Program for Family and Community Nurses

Role: Co-Principal Investigator
Funding Programme: PRIN 2022 – Projects of Relevant National Interest (Italian Ministry of University and Research, MUR)
Project ID: 2022CLFZRH
Period: February 2025 – Present

The DiPP-CoN project aims to strengthen the disaster preparedness competencies of Family and Community Nurses through the development and evaluation of an evidence-based capacity-building programme. The project seeks to improve access to care, enhance community resilience, and reduce avoidable hospitalisations during disasters and public health emergencies.

TELE-FOR – Telemedicine, Education and Training for Health

Role: Principal Investigator
Funding: Compagnia di San Paolo Foundation
Period: June 2024 – Present

The TELE-FOR project aims to strengthen healthcare professionals' knowledge and competencies in telemedicine and telenursing through an integrated educational and implementation programme.

The project is structured around two complementary work packages:

- Development of an advanced educational programme designed to enhance competencies in the organisation and management of care delivery through telemedicine;
- Implementation and evaluation of telemedicine and telenursing interventions to support evidence-based clinical practice and innovative models of care.

RINATI – Redefining Nursing Through Faculty Narratives in the Post-Pandemic Era

Role: Project Promoter
Funding: CECRI – Centro di Eccellenza per la Cultura e la Ricerca Infermieristica (2024 Research Grant)
Period: July 2024 – Present

The RINATI project aims to advance the conceptual development of nursing by exploring how academic nurse educators understand and define nursing care in the post-pandemic era.

The project has three main objectives:

- To explore the lived experiences and mental representations of nursing care among academic nursing faculty;
- To analyse faculty narratives to identify the contemporary meaning and core dimensions of nursing care;
- To develop an updated conceptual definition of nursing that reflects current societal, professional and healthcare transformations.
