

Curriculum Vitae

Salvatore Rizzello

Born 16/07/1963, in Spongano (Lecce), Italy

Full Professor of Economics (since 2002), Università del Piemonte Orientale (Italy)

Education:

- (1993) Dottorato di ricerca in Storia delle Dottrine Economiche, Università di Firenze (Italy) (PhD in History of Economic Thought)
- (1988) Laurea in Filosofia, summa cum laude, Università di Lecce (Italy) (degree in Philosophy)
- (1987) Diploma in piano, Conservatorio di Torino

Academic Position:

- Director of the Department of Law and Political, Economic and Social Sciences at the University of Piemonte Orientale (2011-2019).
- Member of the Scientific Board of the PhD School in Economics Vilfredo Pareto at the University of Torino and member of the Scientific Board of the PhD in "Economics and Complexity" at the University of Torino. (2002-2012)
- Member of the Scientific Board of the PhD "The European Tradition in the History of Economic Thought", University of Macerata. (2004-2010)
- Member of the administrative committee of the International University College of Turin
- General coordinator of the Research Project "Institutions, Behaviour and Markets in Local and Global Settings", an interdisciplinary project, supported by Piedmont Local Government, which involves five research units, including economists, psychologists and jurists. (2012-2014)

Course taught:

- Economics, History of Economic Thought, Individual and organizational decision making (University of Piemonte Orientale), Public policies and Cultural Economics (University of Torino, 2000-2007).

Previous academic position:

- 2007-2011 Dean of the Faculty of Law, University of Piemonte Orientale; (in the same University he founded in 1999 the Centre for Cognitive Economics).
- 2000-2002 Associate Professor of History of Economic Thought, University of Piemonte Orientale
- 1998-2000 Assistant Professor of Economics, University of Piemonte Orientale
- 1993-1998 Assistant Professor of Economics, University of Torino
- 2003-2009 National Secretary of the Italian Association for the History of Political Economy (STOREP);
- 2001- 2004 member of the national scientific board and (2001-2003) General Secretary of the Italian Association of Cognitive Sciences (AISC);
- 2006–2010 member of the Council of the European Society of the History of Economic Thought (ESHET).
- 1997-2000 Secretary of the Network Human Reasoning and decision Making of the European Science Foundation.
- 2001 Visiting Professor, CREUSET of the 'Université Jean Monnet, Sain-Etienne (France).
- 2000 Visiting Professor, at Max Planck Institute, of Jena, Germany.
- 1990 - 1991 visiting Scholar, London School of Economics, London.

Research interests:

Cognitive economics; history of economic thought, institutional economics; experimental economics; imperfect information and procedural rationality; individual and organizational learning and coordination processes; implementation and realization of empirical tests on these topics, applied also to the role, nature and evolution of social institutions.

Referee activity:

The European Journal of the History of Economic Thought ; Review of Austrian Economics; Economics Systems; Rivista di Politica Economica; Economics of Innovation and New Technology; Review of Political Economy; Journal of Bioeconomics; Constitutional Political Economy; Institutions and Economic Development; Journal des Economists et des Etudes Humaines; Mind and Society; and for the Publishers: Routledge; Elgar and Luiss University Press

University address:

- Dipartimento di Giurisprudenza e scienze politiche, economiche e sociali, Università del Piemonte Orientale, Via Cavour 84, 15121 Alessandria (Italy)
Tel. 00390131283768